Manor Introduces New College Day

College Day of Manor Junior College will be held on the campus Sunday, December 13, at 3 o'clock. It will be the first time that the students will be able to devote an entire day to showing others what has been accomplished in the few years that have passed since the foundation.

The purpose of College Day is to encourage the students of high schools to attend Catholic colleges and to acquaint them specifically with Manor.

All of the juniors and seniors of the various Catholic girls' high schools are invited to attend along with their friends. Father Francis A. McDermott, principal of the West Philadelphia Catholic Girls' High School, has offered his personal services in furthering the attendance of guests from the school.

Jaine L. Wagner, president of the student body, will present the welcoming address, to be delivered in the auditorium. Manor's Cultural Group will offer their folk songs and dances. A skit portraying college life at Manor will be presented and refreshments served. A tour of the buildings and campus will complete the afternoon.

Ukrainian Program Fosters Culture

The purpose of the Culture Group is to spread the culture of various nations. Some of the programs consist of Ukrainian dances and songs. The songs are interpreted for the audience before they are sung. Pozi I. Knitter introduces the group and gives a summary of their program.

Up to the present time there have been two performances: one at the New Century Club on October 12th, and the other at the Women's Club of Downingtown, November 9th. The remaining engagements which compile the schedule for 1953-54 are the following:

Germantown Women's Club—
December 16
Pottstown Women's Club—
December 22
Flourtown Women's Club—
February 1
Crooked Billet Club—
February 8
Oreland Club—
February 17

Christmas Visit To St. Joseph Manor Highlights Traditional Carol Night

One of the traditional Yuletide events of Manor College is Carol Night. This year it will be held on December 21, as in all of the preceding years. On this Monday afternoon the students will dress in their academic gowns with white starched collars and large red bows. Carrying lanterns with candles burning they will travel to St. Joseph's Manor in Meadowbrook for their annual visit. Here they will pass through the corridors, singing the traditional Christmas carols for the aged and invalids. The procession will carry harmony through three floors. Some of the old folks will join in the choruses of "Tannenbaum" since many are of German extraction. The carolers will visit the chapel in the home. As usual, students will present the institution with a gift.

When the students return from Meadowbrook they will continue their caroling through all campus buildings and will visit Manor College's Chapel of Christ the King. They will be led by a senior carrying a small statue of the Infant Jesus. Following this Rev. Mother M. Jerome, Provincial Superior, will give them baskets of Christmas goodies. Then they will informally pass the homes in Fox Chase Manor, rendering more carols. A faculty-student Christmas party will be held at the Tally-Ho Clubhouse. The house will be decorated with a Christmas tree and garlands. Lighted candles will be placed at the windows. Students will present each member of the faculty with a gift and will exchange gifts among themselves.

Manor Students Select Council Officers For '53-'54

The good ship Student Council claims as its admiral for the current year senior, Jaine L. Wagner. Her crew of steersmen is composed of freshman, Ramona Dacua, who was elected secretary and senior, Kathleen M. Kelly, who is presently Manor's chancellor of the exchequer.

By virtue of her position as Student Council president, Jaine also serves in the capacity of the Manor College senior delegate to the Philadelphia Regional Council of NFCCS. According to the same policy, Ramona also acts as junior delegate.

Treasurer Kelly also holds the position of regional chairman of the Overseas Service Program Committee of NFCCS.

NF Workshop Reveals Clubs' Plans For Year

The Commissions and Committees of the Philadelphia Region of NFCCS turned out "en masse" for the Regional Workshop which was held on Sunday, November 15, in the La Salle College Library. In giving the opening addresses, Brother Stanislaus, FSC, President of La Salle College, and Brother Augustin, FSC, NFCCS moderator, reiterated the thoughts which were instilled in the minds of the students at the first Regional Council Meeting held at Gwynedd-Mercy on October 18. They stressed the importance of cooperation and interest on the part of each and every NFCCS member. This includes every single Catholic College student in the region, since they are the members of the Federation.

After the opening remarks, the group broke up into individual discussion panels. Chairing the discussion were Ruth Tallman, Immaculata, Student Government; Mary Anne Dever, Gwynedd-Mercy, Family Life; Mary O'Halloran, (Continued on Page 2)

President Confers Mortar Boards Symbolizing College Acceptance

A new freshman class was received into the Manor College student body on November 4, at 1:30 P.M.

The girls were capped at a ceremony over which Rev. Anthony J. Flynn, STL, PhD, and Mother M. Bohdanna, OSBM, Dean, presided.

As in past years, each student walked solemnly down the aisle of the auditorium in academic dress. Each freshman took her place on the stage as the upperclassmen took places in the auditorium.

Mother M. Bohdanna, OSBM, introduced Rev. Mother M. Jerome, OSBM, president of Manor College, who presented mortar boards to the new students.

Rev. Father congratulated the newly-capped students and in a few words he explained how fortunate the girls were to attend a Catholic college under the careful guidance of the Sisters of St. Basil the Great, under whose supervision the girls would become fine Catholic women.

Following the ceremony the faculty and students gathered at St. Macrina Hall for the Capping Day Party.

The newly-capped students were guests of honor at a light supper arranged by the seniors.

Professor Writes New Micro-Missal

Hot off the press and with over 3,000 copies already sold is the Micro-Missal, which was written by Rev. Anthony J. Flynn, STL, PhD, professor of religion at Chestnut Hill, Rosemont, and Manor Colleges.

The Micro-Missal is a little prayer-book which explains to the reader what the priest is doing; and also furnishes appropriate prayers for the particular parts of the Mass. These prayers and explanations are so arranged that they can be followed simultaneously with the performance and recitation of the priest.

Father reports that his idea for such a Missal stemmed from the instructing of converts. It seems he would often advise them to hear Mass. After they would do so they would remark to him that they did not understand what was taking place. The aim of the booklet was and is to help these people and all those not familiar with the regular Missal.

The Micro-Missal was published by Jeffries and Manz and can now be purchased at some pamphlet racks for ten cents.

It is Father Flynn's wish that through the use of the Micro-Missal the faithful will elevate their intention to perfect offering by keeping this thought in mind: "When you are at Mass it is the same as kneeling on Calvary and witnessing the Crucifixion and death of Our Divine Redeemer."

IRC Revitalization Needs Your Support

The formation of the Culture Group on campus has made Manor more IRC conscious. (The story of this group is reported in the adjacent column.)

Besides the Culture Calendar the IRC is planning various activities. The highlight of these future plans will be a visit to the UN in the fall.

The Culture Group and the other functions of the IRC represent first steps in reviving interest in international relations. More and more work is necessary.

Let's get IRC back in NF!!!

Barn Frolic Welcomes Fall Season To Campus

As the autumnal season crept onto the Manor College campus so also did the social season begin with the annual barn dance. The dance was sponsored by the Tally-Ho Club.

Corn shocks, pumpkins, bales of hay and a harvest moon provided part of the decorations. The crowning masterpiece of the decor was the presence of "Scarey" the Scarecrow.

Disk and Baton

The disk jockeys are being kept busy lately because more new songs are coming over the air waves than ever before.

Perry Como's latest "You Alone" and the popular "No Other Love" are being added to his all-time greats. These songs and his TV program are keeping him at the top of the long list of popular vocalists.

"Lonely," Richard Hayes' newest, has brought him back in the spotlight.

A familiar classic that has become popular is "When the Saints Come Marching In." This has been recorded by Ray Anthony and is almost as popular as his rendition of "Dragnet."

"Heart of My Heart," an old song, has been given a new twist by the ever popular Ames Bros.

England has added a new song to its great recordings. The nickels are ringing in the juke-boxes for Frank Chakefield's record of "Ebb Tide." This song is made very realistic by the sound of the pounding surf at its ebb.

On the classical scene in Philadelphia there is quite a bit of activity.

The Academy of Music has announced an excellent schedule. To those of us who are more interested in the opera than popular music the schedule is very satisfying.

"Madame Butterfly," one of the most popular of the operas, was presented on Friday, November 6 by the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Co. The performance was excellent and as usual, the conductor Carlo Moresco did a fine job of orchestration. In the cast were: Dalisay Aldaba, a Philippine soprano who was Cio-Cio-San. Her small voice is of fine quality and her high notes were clear and distinct. Guilio Gari took the part of Pinkerton, the faithless husband. Lorraine Calcagno was a sympathetic Suzuki and Frank Valentino was Sharpless, friend of Pinkerton. Others in the cast were Herbert Estrow, Helene Schofield, and Mary Lou Parks.

The operas yet to be performed by the Civic Opera Co. are: La Traviata, December 11, Manon, January 14, Madame Butterfly, February 25, Lohengrin, March 19, and Aida on April 23. As usual students will be able to purchase tickets at reduced rates.

College Poets Gather On Immaculata Campus

The poetry meeting, attended by 40 guests, was held this semester at Immaculata College on November 8, 1953. Representatives from Manor College were Dana Kiziuk and Halyna Dubriwna, the latter of whom read some original free-verse.

Students from Rosemont College, Gwynedd-Mercy Junior College, and Villanova discussed all poetry contributed. The next meeting will be held at Rosemont College on Sunday, March 21.

Vickie Amann

A transfer student from Chestnut Hill College, Vickie has become a full-fledged Manor girl by her participation in all college activities, and has been elected prefect of Sodality. She is also Manor's representative to the Mariology and Missions Commissions.

A day-hop, Vickie resides in Lawndale, Philadelphia. Her major is business administration but she spends most of her spare time training her coloratura soprano voice.

Strange as it may seem, Vickie isn't waiting for Mr. Right to come along, as she already has her Mr. White.

Oksana Deresz

Oksana with her winning smile and beautiful curly hair hails from Amsterdam, New York. She is a "small town girl" and is quite proud of her city and the beautiful lakes nearby.

She came to America four years ago and is a graduate of St. Basil Academy. Her greatest dream is to be able to return to Europe again and to her native land, Ukraine.

Oksana engages in different activities at Manor, especially in the Culture Group in which she takes a great interest because of her love for dancing and singing.

After graduation she intends to further her studies in nursing, which she has chosen as her career, at St. Mary's Hospital, Minnesota.

Halyna Dubriwna

Seen at every poetry meeting, Halyna, the Bard of Manor, is a senior boarder at the Tally-Ho Clubhouse. She is a math major and intends to continue her studies at Fordham University after her graduation in June. Active in many activities, Halyna is also a member of the Foxprints staff.

She also has as her hobby, embroidery, and enjoys taking part in discussions, and in dramatics.

Her ambitions are great, but there is a question whether she will continue to study for her Bachelor's degree or finish her career with a degree of MRS.

Council Wants Voice Heard!

The Student Council, as defined by the National Student Government Commission, NFCCS, is a body composed of student representatives who act as a liaison group between the administration and the individual student. It is also the function of Council to plan the extra-curricular activities of the various groups on campus. The Student Council should be a recognized group to which a student should feel free to come in order to "air his views." It is then the job of Council to see that something is done to correct the cause of these grievances. The administration should realize that the Council is the official voice of the student body and should act accordingly. Of course, Council should not assume any powers that it has no right to assume.

It is not the purpose of the Student Council "to run" the school but to foster administration-faculty-student relations and mutual cooperation between the two groups. It is only through the attainment of mutual cooperation, that the college may become a successful institution.

Stepha, Okey, and Ola have in-

MARY WALKS WITH US

At a general meeting of the Sodality, Vickie Amann was elected prefect and Kathleen Kelly secretary.

The theme of the Sodality this year is "Mary Walks With Us" and with this in mind the Sodality projects for the year '53-'54 have been decided. As in past years there are three committees: the Apostolic, Our Lady's, and the Truth committees. Each one functions as a unit under the direction of the Sodality prefect.

Carol Night is a project conducted by the Apostolic committee of the Sodality and the moderator, Mother M. Bohdanna, OSBM.

Our Lady's committee will decorate the shrine of Our Blessed Mother for the feast of the Immaculate Conception and for all feasts of the Blessed Mother.

Reports on Action Now and the Queen's Work are the projects for the Truth Committee this month.

All the leaders made plans in order to make this the best year the NF has ever had in Philadelphia and to prove to the National Council, whose evaluation chided the region, that Philadelphia has the potentiality to be one of the most active regions in the country. One of the highlights of the meeting was the announcement by Mr. Bronson that La Salle, with the approval of Council, which convenes at Immaculata College, on Sunday, December 13, would like to change the seat of the Industrial Relations Committee from the Villanova campus to La Salle.

The workshop ended with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament celebrated in the chapel.

Members are expected to give full support to the council meeting.

After the meeting, the instructions were given by Regional OSP Chairman Kathleen Kelly, Manor, to the campus OSP chairmen concerning the clothing drive which is the outstanding regional OSP project for the year.

The Overseas Service Program, which is seated on Manor's campus was given a favorable evaluation by the National Council for the work it accomplished last year.

President Presents Indus. Relations News

Let the image of these noble words fall upon the retina: First, a hundred percent attendance is sought at the biweekly meetings of IRC. These meetings are held at 8:30 A.M. every other Wednesday in Room No. 4 in the Tally-Ho-Clubhouse. Members are urged to bring ideas for the formulation of plans and any questions in regard to world problems of Labor and Management.

Second, an outline of present plans—A schedule of events has not yet been drawn up but the following are a few of the ideas that have been presented by the president: Tour of one of the large corporations; engaging of lecturers; socials; the compiling of a list designating literature appropriate to the club's needs; discussions on current labor and management problems; and a service in which information regarding future and part-time employment will be procured for Manor students. It is the opinion of the president that regional cooperation is of the utmost importance. To further this cause the IRC of Manor will extend invitations to the colleges, having the same club on their campuses, to visit our college and report on their plans and discuss various projects that we can combine efforts in producing.

At the next meeting there will be an appointment of a new secretary and the drawing up of a constitution.

Be there to make your additions and corrections!!!

Manor Sponsors
Marian Activities

At Manor, in honor of Our Lady during the Marian Year, the Sodality of Our Lady of Fatima is sponsoring a series of activities and devotions. His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, on September 8, 1953, proclaimed in his encyclical, "Fulgens Corona," that this Marian Year was to be celebrated. This was to mark the first centenary of the solemn definition of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception. The proclamation is very appropriate since the world today is becoming more and more Mary-conscious.

At the suggestion of the Sodality, Foxprints has dedicated this issue to honoring the Blessed Virgin and for the first time, it is printed on blue stock, the color closely associated with Our Lady.

The Holy Father advocated pilgrimages to Rome and, especially, to the shrines at the sites of Our Lady's apparitions. Those who find it impossible to make these journeys are advised to make trips to designated centers in their area. These excursions carry with them a multitude of rich and special indulgences. A group pilgrimage to the Shrine of the Miraculous Medal has been planned for the near future.

Group recitation of the rosary is held each day at noon in Christ the King chapel. On each feast day of Mary, the student body will attend Mass and receive Holy Communion.

Another project of the Sodality is the task of propagating the various indulgences which may be gained during

Class Ring Arrival

In the spring, a girl's fancy turns to new fashions. Manor's students will not only have new spring attire this year but also new class rings.

The new ring will be octagon-shaped with a faceted ruby. On either side of the shank the college seal is engraved, together with the year.

The red and gold symbolize the flaming road to eternity. Ring Day, May 21, is eagerly awaited, for on this day the students will receive their rings which they will wear proudly but with an air of dignity and honor because it symbolizes love, purity, fidelity and sincerity.

Committee Chairmen
Announce Prom Plans

With the first breath of spring, thoughts naturally turn to the annual formal. Last week an announcement was made to the effect that the date of this year's prom would be Saturday, May 22.

The spacious college auditorium will provide the setting and will be decorated in accordance with the dance theme which will be disclosed in the very near future.

Jaine Wagner has been chosen chairman of the dance with Donna Kizuik as ticket chairman, Kathleen Kelly, refreshments, and Stephanie Sarachman, decorations.

The price of bids has been set at $5.00 and the chairman and committee are doing all in their power to make May 22 a night of memories for all attending.

The faculty and students extend their sincere sympathy to Mother M. Bohdanna, OSBM Dean, and to Sister M. Theophane OSBM, instructor of Analytic Geometry, on the death of their father, Mr. Nicholas Podney.

NFCCS News

This year, as in previous years, the National Federation of Catholic College Students will sponsor a European travel program. The land itineraries will include travel through Holland, Germany, France, Switzerland and Italy, as well as Spain, Portugal, and Belgium on the longer tours. This year the trip will include visits to the various renowned shrines of Our Lady in honor of the Marian Year. Information concerning these low-cost tours may be obtained from Kathleen Kelly, OSP Chairman.

A regional council meeting was held on March 28, at Chestnut Hill and featured as guest speaker, Mr. David McWhirtier, national NFCCS president and a student at Loyola University in California. All delegates are reminded of the necessity of attending each and every council meeting. Remember after two absences, action may be taken concerning your dismissal! . . . Pamphlets containing the encyclicals can be purchased from the club secretary, Ramona Dacua for 25c. Members are urged to read them and also to select literature pertaining to labor from the booklist which is published monthly and posted on the main bulletin board in the Tally-Ho-Clubhouse.

Pozi I. Knitter, president, will give a short discourse on her experiences with retail in relation to the problems of Labor and Management on April 9 in the Student Lounge.

Second Cupid Cotillion
Spells Grand Success

Amidst an atmosphere of cupids, lace and hearts, the second annual Cupid's Cotillion was held. The date of the dance was Saturday evening, February 20, and as the clock struck nine, the auditorium became a ballroom, crowded with dancing couples.

Guests arrived from colleges and universities in New York, New Brunswick, Easton, Newark, Chester, and, of course, Philadelphia.

At eleven o'clock the senior dance was played and a dance sweetheart was selected from names placed in a box. The name drawn by the orchestra leader was that of Halyna Dubriwna. She received a bracelet in remembrance of the event.

As the evening drew to a close, couples left with pleasant memories but with the traditional tired feet.

Lenten Ceremonies
Prompt Contrition

The first Sunday after the first full moon after the Vernal Equinox is the standard by which we determine our Easter. In preparation for such a miraculous and holy occasion, we the cells of the Mystical Body of Christ, perform beautiful liturgical ceremonies and acts of mortification and sacrifice.

This period of preparation is known as Lent. It is a forty day fast in honor of the sufferings and death of Christ. Lent begins with Ash Wednesday, when Catholics receive the sacramental of ashes in a sign of the cross on their foreheads, and ends on Holy Saturday, which is the day which immediately precedes the Resurrection of Christ, or Easter Sunday.

In order to express the actual mournfulness of this period, the Church forbids the celebration of pompous ceremonies. Church bells become less joyful, purple vestments are donned, and, finally during Passion Week the statues are covered with royal purple cloths.

The Archdiocese submits Lenten Regulations including those regarding fast and abstinence.

It is a beautiful practice to perform at least one worthy act a day. This is a custom usually employed by young school children who are not yet at the fasting age and want to show Jesus that they, too, wish to mourn his Passion and Death.

In joining in Lenten devotions, it is well to keep in mind the purpose of its performance and to recall to mind those things that were done to Him, the agony in His mother's eyes, the physical pain He endured, His mental anguish from abuse by plotters and deceivers, His feeling of separation from His Heavenly Father, and last His most unendurable dolor that: "He came unto us but we received Him not." P. K.

The Spring Symposium of the Catholic Renaissance Society will be held on April 19-20 in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. The theme chosen for the symposium is "Symbol and Myth in Contemporary Literature." One of the featured speakers is Jacques Maritain, one of the most renowned philosophers of today.

St. Basil College Professor Conducts
Recent Student Retreat Exercises

The annual retreat for students was this year conducted by Reverend Peter Fedorchuk, Professor of English at St. Basil College, Stamford, Connecticut. It took place on the three days of March 23, 24, 25.

Father Fedorchuk, a member of the Basilian Order, gave three spiritual conferences daily to the retreatants. The first conference consisted of an explanation of confession and of the different types of sin. Father explained that one may sin by either omission or commission. A transgression may be made against the Ten Commandments, the Precepts of the Church, or against the virtues and counsels. He also pointed out that it is much less expensive to go to the confessional and tell the priest your troubles than to follow the modern trend of telling all to the psychoanalyst. Furthermore, the priest is bound by the unbreakable seal of confession whereas, the psychoanalyst is bound only by a code of ethics.

Congress Students
Consider Position

The wind and cold did not hinder approximately one hundred and fifty college students from attending the Third Marian Congress. The Congress was held at Rosemont College and began with Mass at 10:30 a.m. with the Most Reverend John F. O'Hara, CSC, Archbishop of Philadelphia presiding. After Mass a breakfast was served at Mayfield Hall and Mr. James Dougherty of St. Joseph's College spoke on the "Role of the Catholic College Student in a non-Marian world."

In the afternoon, speakers from the colleges in the area discussed the various titles of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Peggy Hoffman of Chestnut Hill spoke on the Virginity of the Blessed Virgin. In her speech Miss Hoffman brought out many things pertaining to the physical aspect of the Virgin Birth. Jean Pepper of Immaculata told of the different titles in honor of Mary. Joseph Rodriguez of La Salle then spoke on the Immaculate Conception, and Frank McDonough of Villanova discussed Our Lady's Assumption. After a speech by Lauris Gerty of Rosemont concerning devotions to Mary, a discussion period was held. This forum was moderated by Rev. Charles Mynaugh of the Archconfraternity of Christian Doctrine.

One of the main things brought out by panel and audience was the fact that many non-Catholics say we "pray to Mary." This wrong concept is sometimes given by the Catholic, himself, for instead of saying "pray through Mary," he says "pray to" and this is one of the main reasons non-Catholics believe we adore Mary as a deity.

Conductive Spring Weather
Revives Outdoor Sports

With impatience, Manorettes await the arrival of spring and outdoor sports. This year Mrs. R. Potter, physical education instructor, will reintroduce a sport which has been dormant for awhile . . . archery.

In the following conferences, Father tried to impress upon the minds of the students the necessity and value of prayer in the choosing of a state in life.

He dwelt especially on the holy state of Matrimony, the natural choice of the multitude, and expounded on the qualities which should be looked for in a prospective life-partner.

Father counseled the students to learn especially the domestic arts in order that they may make a pleasant home for their husbands and children. It is the little things, like preparing a meal on time, which may make or break a marriage.

On the feast of the Annunciation, the final day of the retreat, the Apostolic Blessing of the Holy Father was bestowed upon the participants in the retreat. The prescribed prayers for the gaining of the plenary indulgence were then recited.

Current IRC Agenda
Features UN Tour

The trip to the UN in April is very much anticipated by members of the IRC. The president of the club is applying for membership in the International House.

The goal set this year by the IRC is to revive interest in international relations. The Culture Club has made plans to study early American Culture and Irish Culture.

A representative attended a lecture by Dr. John Lukacs on March 3 in the La Salle College Library. Dr. Lukacs, who received his Doctor's degree from the University of Budapest, is instructor in history at La Salle College. He is author of "The Great Powers and Eastern Europe" and has made many contributions to the Commonweal and New York Times. The lecture consisted of a clarification of the terms "isolationist" and "conservative" and gave their meanings in terms of present day international relations.

Annual Scholarship Exam
Attracts Prep Students

St. Macrina's Hall was the meeting place for many nervous prep school seniors on February 20, when scholarship examinations were administered to them. Mother M. Bohdanna, Dean, was in charge of the examinations.

The college offers a number of full and part tuition scholarships each year.

The names of the students attaining high scores in the test must be submitted to the administration council before grants are made. Two members are ill at present so the matter will not be considered until a slightly later date than usual.

HAPPY EASTER

There's music in the air. Since spring is just around the corner new songs are being recorded fast and furiously. Each day a new recording comes over the airwaves or through the TV channels.

The inimitable Perry Como has, as per usual, recorded another great hit. "Wanted" is certainly going to be counted among his best. Your reporter considers it one of his all time greats and is glad to note that Perry is still his natural self and has not "gone commercial" as some vocal artists have done.

Frank Sinatra, after quite a spell of no recordings, certainly has hit the come-back trail with his "Young at Heart."

"Answer Me, O My Love," the newest hit of the fabulous Nat "King" Cole is steadily gaining in popularity.

Eddie Fisher, our own hometown boy, continues in popularity with his "Alle Mi Core" ("With All My Heart") which he does partly in Italian.

New to Philadelphia are the Wilder Brothers whose "Racetrack Blues" will provide jitterbug enthusiasts with some good kicks.

Kitty Kallen, who, as far as your reporter is concerned, doesn't make enough records, puts plenty of feeling into her newest "Little Things Mean A Lot."

The well-known and ever popular Patti Page has added "Johnny Guitar" to her long list of hits. It is a pity she did not continue her TV programs which had become a great favorite of televiewers. Miss Page is a natural for TV since she is completely relaxed and able to handle any situation competently.

Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healey have added to their popularity since they recorded "That Crazy Mixed-up Song."

Lead The Chase

D. Kizuik, K. Kelly, and P. Knitter prepare to vacate campus in favor of rambling through the country.

Pozi I. Knitter

In accordance with the Foxprints policy of presenting in this column campus personalities, we introduce to you this month one Miss Pozi I. Knitter.

Born and raised in that ever-popular little suburb, Fox Chase, Pa., Mrs. Knitter's daughter spent four years soaking up knowledge in the prep school on campus, St. Basil Academy, prior to her enrolling at Manor as a business major.

Extremely active in extra-curricular activities, she is, besides being associate editor of Foxprints, the president of the Industrial Relations Club. Pozi has also been a member of the Cupid's Cotillion and Tahiti Ball committees. She has found time also to exercise salesmanship in the selling of the famous #50. (Ed. Note—I'll take 29).

Weekends find our girl haunting various atmospheric spots about town, all the while strengthening the bonds of friendship between Manor and a certain local educational institution which just recently changed its name from "college" to "university." Yes, pre-meds can be quite interesting!

As for her plans after graduation in June, Pozi is still uncertain, but one thing is sure, no matter what she does, life for PIK will never be dull.

Kathleen Kelly

"Let's get the show on the road!" Anyone attending Manor would know who said that: none other than Kathleen Kelly. Kass, as she is known on campus, has raven hair and Irish blue eyes, which facts naturally lead you to the idea that she is a girl who has a happy disposition. Cooperation and willingness to help are two of her outstanding characteristics. She is a typical Manor girl; that is, she is dependable and always willing to lend a hand.

Besides her activities at school, two of which are campus and regional OSP chairman and secretary of the Sodality, Kass manages to complete her work in medical and legal secretarial training. At the termination of her course, she will prove herself an apt and efficient secretary to someone, maybe even to a certain "sergeant."

Preparing Korea-bound mail is one of her favorite pastimes and at this enjoyable task she has proven herself quite capable.

Her Ford coupe is a well-known fixture on campus and, at the end of the day, she and her three book-laden friends hop in and with the roar of the duals behind them, leave on their return journey to Halstead Street.

Donna Kiziuk

Donna, with her bright blue eyes, a pleasant smile, and a cheerful disposition is a senior resident student. She takes an active part in many of the campus activities and clubs especially in the Culture Club where she participates in the folk singing and dancing.

A resident of Chester, Pa., Donna is a chemistry major and spends much of her time in the laboratory. If she continues to do this, we are sure that a new element will be added to the Periodic Table very soon. She intends to continue her studies at Fordham University after graduation in June.

Although it is true that Donna will make an efficient chemist, the question as to why she is not studying to be a doctor, just can't be answered.

MOTHER, the sweetest and most revered word in any language, immediately brings to mind thoughts of love, tenderness and untiring devotion. This word is further enhanced when it is coupled with Mary. Mary, the Mother of Our Savior: our life, our sweetness, and our hope.

On Calvary, the crucified Christ made us sharers in her maternal care when He gave her to all men as their spiritual mother. As is typical of a mother, she is ever willing to listen, as her children pour out their hearts to her, and to lovingly help them ease their troubled minds. Renowned as mediatrix between her Son and His creatures, she will listen as men plead for peace and for deliverance of the world from strife, pessimism, and despair; and intercede for them before the throne of the Giver of all gifts.

A "Memorare" on the lips of every man will be of more value in the solving of the problems of the world today than all the knowledge concerning nuclear physics and its applications that man can fathom.

Modest Miss Desires Decent Dress; Catholic Group Acts To Fulfill Demand

Throughout the entire nation young ladies are realizing the need for modest dress. The modern miss not only understands the need for modesty in clothes, but she is doing something about it.

The "Supply the Demand for the Supply" movement is a sincere effort by Catholic high school and college girls to let the stores of their community know their ideas on modest feminine apparel. When stores know what the Modest Miss desires, buyers will more readily be able to supply decent wearing apparel.

When we buy our clothes we should always keep in mind that our bodies are the temples of the Holy Ghost. We should guard against the cheap and commercialized exploitation of the human body by our dress. For too many years, a great number of women have been under the mistaken impression that the term "modest dress" is synonymous with the terms "old-fashioned" and "unattractive." This is not true—to be modest means to dress in a manner befitting a young Catholic lady and you, yourself, should be the judge in choosing clothes; you should always remember to keep in your mind the picture of the Blessed Mother and call on her for help. She, in her wisdom will show you the way to genuine modesty.

Besides the SDS movement, there is also a crusade known as the Purity Crusade of Mary Immaculate. This crusade was officially begun on May 13th, which is the anniversary of the appearance of Our Lady at Fatima. This organization was begun by the Rev. Bernard Kunkel of Bartlesville, Illinois, and its aims are to restore chastity and modesty to all phases of human existence. Through the untiring work of Father Kunkel, the Purity Crusade now has many active promoters throughout the nation.

This year the Purity Crusade is furthering the idea of Mary-like wedding gowns. These gowns are already being manufactured in St. Louis, Missouri. A Marylike gown has on it a label of blue containing a picture of the Blessed Mother. A gown containing this label has met all the specifications of the Purity Crusade and by wearing it a young woman may be sure she is correctly attired for her wedding. No longer will she have to look in vain for the proper type of wedding garment, which often seems to be so hard to find. Now she may enter a department store and ask to see a Marylike and her "Perfect Wedding Gown" problems are over.

In this, the Marian Year, let us all strive to forward the Modest Dress Movement and remember that through Mary, the perfect model of purity, we will make this movement a success.

Stars At Twilight

Two Manorettes, L. Korchynska and X. Deresz, look over the dance program on a scenic dormitory balcony while awaiting their early prom dates.

Twinkling Stars and Twilight Heavens Create Atmospheric Setting at Formal

Shining silver stars and a bit of magic transformed the college auditorium into a nebular ballroom on Saturday evening, May 22. This was the night of the annual spring formal, "Stars at Twilight."

As the long-anticipated hour approached the ladies of the ball in bouffant, gossamer gowns, floated down the main stairway to the parlor where they welcomed their escorts clad in summer formal-wear.

After exchanging greetings, the couples retreated to the dance floor where they enjoyed the rhythms of the "Melody-Makers," including such specialty dances as, the Bunny Hop, Mexican Hat Dance, and Charleston.

At 10:30, during the playing of the senior prom song, "Some Enchanted Evening," the prom queen was chosen from names placed in a silver box. The winning name was pulled from the box by the orchestra leader. The lucky young lady proved to be Stephanie Sarachmann who was crowned and received an old-fashioned bouquet. The queen then reigned over the queen's dance, "Vivenna Life."

Guests included young men from many colleges and universities throughout the East, the faculty members, alumnae, and friends of the college.

Although the atmosphere in general was lighthearted and gay, one gifted with clairvoyance could detect a tinge of sadness in the hearts of the students as they realized that this prom was the last social event at which they would all be gathered as classmates.

Friends' School Students Hear Dean Explain Church

In order to broaden student knowledge of Catholicism, and the various rites of the Church, Mr. Howard Bartram, headmaster of Abington Friends' School, invited Mother M. Bohdanna, Dean of Manor, to give a lecture at the school on Friday, April 7.

The lecture concerned the original services of the first Christians, their development, and the spread of the Church from the East to the West. Mother elaborated on the development of ceremonies surrounding the original Agape, the commemoration of the Last Supper, as practiced by the early Christians, and the summary of the ceremonies surrounding the Sacrament as recorded in the Didache by the Apostles. The evolution of the Mass in Byzantium and the changes brought in it when Catholicism spread to the then barbarian West, were also emphasized.

The fact that the incidental ceremonies that accompany the basic worship of the Catholic Church vary, proved of great interest to the Abington student body.

Second Annual May Day Ceremony Recalls Age-Old Tradition Rites

In accordance with the formal welcoming of spring, Manor College students celebrated their annual May Day on May 3. The traditional May 1 date fell when classes were in recess so ceremonies were held on Monday.

History of May Day

The celebration of this day finds its origin in the festival that the Romans held in honor of Flora, goddess of flowers. This custom soon spread to Gaul, Britain and other provinces. The fusion of the Roman and Celtic cultures resulted in the Beltane, which is the same ceremony including Druidical ceremonies and bonfires. In France, Germany, and England during the medieval period there originated the now contemporary Maypole. This period also gave rise to the "Bringing In of The May" in which the girls washed their faces in the early May dew, to insure beautiful complexions. At this time also there was chosen a Queen of the May.

Recently May Day has become a great holiday in Soviet Russia, where its leaders have now termed it Red Day. As can be determined from the aforementioned history, May Day is of paganistic origin and has turned into an instrument of Communism in the Soviet. However, it intrinsically contains customs of extreme beauty and romance. Pope Pius XII has suggested that this year's May Day be made a Blue Day in repudiation of the Soviet Red one—which Manor College has done.

Flowers for the making of the May baskets were gathered in early morning, when they were still heavy with the May dew. They included azalea branches, lilac clusters, and tulips. The flowers were then arranged, in wicker baskets of varying sizes. Then the baskets were placed on the doors of Manor College buildings, on the doors of faculty offices, and distributed in the Motherhouse. The procession that carried the baskets was led by Nellie Korchynska, May Day chairman. Then some members of the student body took up their Maypole streamers and danced to a typical May song on the lawn. Weaving in and out with the steps of the dancers, the brightly-colored streamers covered the Maypole with a lattice design.

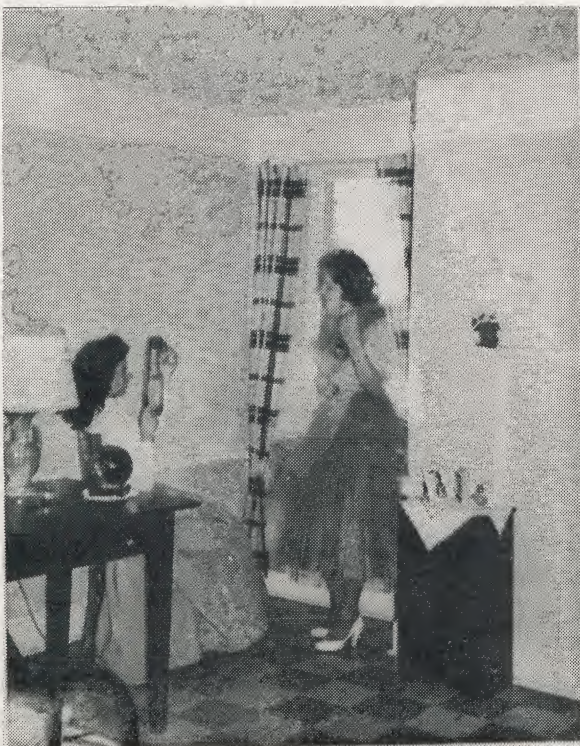

May Queen Chosen

In accordance with Manor's custom, the prefect of Sodality became the Queen of the May. This year's Queen was Vickie Amann who was gowned in lavender. Vickie's auburn hair was crowned with a circlet of yellow roses which signified majesty. After the coronation, the entire student body and faculty were invited to a tea.

Happy Feast Day!

Feast Day wishes with prayers are extended to: Very Rev. Mother M. Eusebia, OSBM, Superior General, June 22.

Rev. Mother M. Jerome, OSBM, Provincial Superior, June 15. Ven. Sister M. Emelia, OSBM, May 8.

Vickie Amann, the May Queen, primping herself before she descends into garden to receive a crown and a basket of flowers. Kathleen Kelly smiles as she obligingly holds up a mirror for her senior classmate. Tally-Ho Clubhouse dorm has been the center for many similar preparations.

Melodies Accent Graduation Day

This year, for the first time since 1951, St. Basil Academy glee club will grace the commencement exercises for the Manor College class of 1954 on June 6. Garbed in their white choir gowns, they will present several musical renditions. Among these will be included such traditional commencement classics as "You'll Never Walk Alone," "Trees," "Gaudeamus Igitur," and "Halls of Ivy."

The day will begin with a Baccalaureate Mass at 9:00 in Christ the King chapel. After Mass, the seniors will be guests at the annual Communion breakfast held in their honor in the dining room.

The commencement exercises will begin at 2:30 with the procession into the auditorium. This procession will consist of the administrative officers, the faculty, and graduates.

Attired in academic dress and carrying gold tea roses, the seniors will proceed to the stage where they will be greeted by Mother M. Bohdanna, OSBM, dean. Mr. Eugene Rohach, prominent Philadelphian in the field of insurance and real estate, and friend of the college, will introduce the speaker for the ceremonies, Rev. Anthony J. Flynn, STL, Ph.D. Father Flynn received his STL from St. John's College, Little Rock, Arkansas. He has done special study in Christian archeology at Propaganda University, Rome, Italy. Besides being professor of religion at Rosemont, Chestnut Hill, and Manor, he is also known as an author and lecturer.

The diplomas will then be distributed by Mother M. Jerome, OSBM, president of Manor College and Provincial of the Sacred Heart Province of the Sisters of St. Basil the Great.

The seniors will be guests of the undergraduates at an informal get-together on Thursday evening, June 3. Also present will be the faculties of Manor College and St. Basil Academy.

Group Observes Details On Modern Home Tour

At the gracious invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Robinson of Fox Chase Road, Rydal, Pa., a group of students, together with Mother M. Bohdanna, Sister M. Theophane, Miss Christine Dochwat, and Mr. and Mrs. John Podney of Chicago, toured their home which is built and furnished on the lines of modified modern architectural design.

Thursday, May 13, at 7:00, the group assembled at the entrance, which simulates an early American colonial mansion with majestic white pillars. The back of the home is built to represent a ship complete with life-saving belts and decks which are in reality patios off the master bedrooms on the second floor. These overlook a blue kidney-shaped sylvan pool and a scenic lake.

A tour of the interior revealed rooms fitted with exquisite furnishings. The kitchen was especially noteworthy. While being most attractive, it was completely functional and step-saving.

Pilgrims Crowd Campus To Honor Blessed Virgin

Cloudy skies did not prevent 2,500 people from making the annual pilgrimage to the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes on Mother's Day.

The day began with Masses held in the auditorium and chapel simultaneously. Solemn High Mass was sung at 11:00 at the Grotto. The celebrant was Very Rev. Fr. Provincial Nicholas Kohut, OSBM. At three o'clock there was a procession to the Grotto headed by Sodalists, garbed in academic cap and gown.

The statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary was crowned. Devotions to the Blessed Mother followed. An Act of Consecration in Ukrainian and in English concluded the services.

Blue Army

As a sequel to honoring the Blessed Mother on this day, the Sodality sponsored a talk on Friday, May 21, by Miss Marie A. MacKorkle on the Blue Army.

Seniors Lead The Chase

Olga Petrychenko

Where there is music, singing and entertainment you are sure to find green-eyed, blond Olga. She came to us at the second semester of last year, as a transfer student from Rutgers University. She is from New Brunswick, N. J., and is a senior boarder.

Olga takes an active part in many campus clubs and is the president of the International Relations Club. She belongs to the Cultural Club, where she is Club House is decorated appropriately for every feast and is a very pleasant and beautiful sight, as "Stephie" is the chairman of Our Lady's committee.

We all know that "Stephie" will make a wonderful nurse but we also think she would make a wonderful oral hygienist.

our dancing star, since she performs a solo dance at all of our performances. Her dancing is very beautiful; Olga has been attending ballet school for some time. Olga's golden singing voice is equally as beautiful as her dancing. Olga enjoys great operas and attends them regularly.

She is a graduate of St. Basil Academy and, after her graduation from Manor College this year, she is planning to go into nurses' training. Olga's gentleness, and willingness to lend a helping hand to anyone, will help to make her a very loving and good nurse. She is interested in literature and enjoys reading classical and modern writings. Most of all she likes to read books of detective mysteries, but that's no wonder for she is probably preparing herself to be ready in the near future (we think) to help a certain detective solve his cases.

Stephanie Sarachmann

Smiling, bright blue eyes, beautiful, long auburn hair, and a quiet and pleasant disposition would characterize our Stephanie.

Stephanie, a resident of Chester, Pa. is a senior boarder at Manor College. A graduate of St. Basil Academy, she is now completing her legal and medical secretarial course. After her graduation in June from Manor College, "Stephie" plans to take up nursing as her career.

The Cultural Club is one of the many campus interests in which "Stephie" takes part. She has been elected decoration chairman of the annual Spring Formal and has, in the past, belonged to different decoration committees. The statue of Our Lady in the Tally-Ho she is known on this campus, sashays into the Foxprints limelight, where she is entitled to a bow, most profound, for her work in student activities. This work ranges from Student Council President to "beating the stiles."

Jaine is another Fox Chase townie, who rides the Kelly Express to school each day. And although she has done notable work as Editor of Foxprints, and Senior Delegate to NFCCS, and has shown commendable showmanship as Diane, she just can't seem to make the car.

Jaine received preparatory schooling at St. Basil Academy and entered Manor as a biology major. On the ways of amoebas, mammalian anatomy, and split cells she has become well-versed.

A few of her pleasures are La Salle dances, portraits of Joe DiMaggio, the phrase — "Let's take it all over again slow," and Scoop Bronson.

As to this fair damsel's plans for the future, she is still undecided, which so well portrays her slow easy ways (this being June). Though the proximate is wrapped in mystery, she leaves with but one fear, and that is the securing of a position at a famed mail-order house, as secretary. Chin up, dear Jaine; this would be better than bread lines.

The month of May has proven to be a boon to recording artists; more and more records are spinning on the turnstiles. Old favorites are being revived and re-recorded by popular artists. New songs contain more beautiful melodies and lyrics than ever before.

Among the oldies being revived are the Glenn Miller pieces. The late Glenn Miller provided dance music during the 30's and 40's yet his music is still appealing to the public. "String of Pearls," "Little Brown Jug" and "Chattanooga Choo-Choo" are just a few of the revivals.

Our boys, "The Four Aces" have brought back an oldie in their recording of "That Old Gang of Mine." Their rendition of this tune, your reporter believes, is going to be one of the top tunes this month.

"Till Then," another oldie, has been recorded by the Fontaine Sisters, who do a good job of vocalizing on all their records.

Jo Adams, a newcomer, also has revived an old favorite in her recording "Melancholy Baby."

The smoothness of Percy Faith's orchestra is, certainly, well illustrated in his recording of "Dream, Dream, Dream."

Nadia Krawciw, '53 returned to her alma mater on Mother's Day, to make the annual pilgrimage.

Word has been received that Joan Peppelman, '53, has been elected day-student vice-president of her class at Beaver College for the year 1954-55.

Au Revoir

As day is terminated by the gray shadows of dusk which creep across the sky to shut out the golden sunlight, so too, all things must finally come to an end. The hour is rapidly approaching for the class of 1954 to depart from these sheltered and revered halls of knowledge and to step across the threshold into a cold, confused, relentless universe.

The great Shakespeare once said, "... the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players." The time has come for us to make our entrance onto that stage. Graduation day is our opening night; we must step out and play our roles so that the critics will applaud our success.

We must put into practice those virtues and principles that have been instilled in us during our stay here. The raison d'être of the Catholic college is to make its students better-living individuals, better able to save their immortal souls. We must ever remember and live up to this purpose.

We wish to express our gratitude to the kind Sisters and lay faculty who made us aware of these principles. Ever generous with time, aid, and counsel, they have made our stay at Manor worthwhile.

Now, it is time to do the most difficult task of all — to say farewell to our classmates. Thank you, fellow students, for the memories you have given us. May your lives be holy, long, and happy, and as years pass by, may you retain a sweet memory of our years together.

Religious Training - True Checkmate

The time we were to spend here has terminated. We have been made ready to step out and assume our positions on the great chess board of the world—society.

Our training has been God-like; thus must our every move manifest this virtue. Our training has been profoundly instilled; then must our skill, in moving, remain everlasting. Finally, our training has been based on truth; ergo we cannot err in this guided motion.

To know that durante vita we can follow a pattern of complete certitude is a gift more precious than vita. Yet, that is the artistry of our being, as we bid farewell.

The sculptors were our teachers; the Master Painter, the Mover Unmoved.

No matter how enticing lies the proximate, adieus still are dolorous. So with a tear-streaked countenance, we personally wish to say goodbye — first to our friends and last to our friends, as we consider every heart related to our hours at Manor College within the realm of friendship. Other than farewell, we wish to thank these friends and to wish them good fortune in the next, whatever it may be.

"What is to come we know not. But we know that what has been was good."—William E. Henley
